SLAVERY IN HONGKONG DEBATED IN COMMONS

Many Objections To Practice Of Child Selling

INQUIRY ORDERED

Churchill Promises Investigation In Near Future

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, Feb. 15.—Several members have been zealously campaigning at question time in the House of Commons yesterday and today with regard to the sale of children in Hongkong. Mr. Churchill said that when the opportunity arose he would be very glad to ascertain the general sense of the House on the matter, but he was anxious that they should know what the cause was for not violently turning over a custom which was universal in China. He thought it sounded most objectionable in principle but he believed that in practice it was not.

Meanwhile a conference under the auspices of the Anti-slavery Society at which a score of societies were represented presided over by the Viscountess Cladston, passed a resolution declaring that the mui-tsai system was subject to abuses in Hongkong, and urging the Colonial Office to appoint a responsible commission of men and women to visit Hongkong and confer with the Chinese and Europeans to devise a practical scheme for preventing the buying, selling and enslavement of human beings and other abuses arising therefrom.

Several speakers including Mr. Charles Roberts, ex-Under Secretary for India and Commander Hazelwood, strongly protested against the continuance of the system under the British flag as a disgrace and scandal.

Other speakers, while demanding redress of the abuses, pointed out that the system of adoption was an inherent part of the religion of China. One speaker declared that she had more admiration for educated Chinese women than for any she had met in any other part of the world and said that she believed that they would be the strongest factor in abolishing the evil.

Independence For Turkey Promised By French Leader

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 15.—The Colonial Institute this evening gave a banquet in honor of Marshall Lyautey, the French High Commissoner in Morocco.

The former Premier, M. Leygues, who occupied the chair, delivered a speech in the course of which he said that France would remain true to her traditional policy in Islamic countries. The solution of the Islamic problem, he added, lay in Franco-British co-operation which was the keystone of world peace. France and Britain must act together towards the cessation of the Turco-Greek war and must seek a means of reconciling the conflicting interests of the belligerents. Turkey was yet to play an important part provided she resolutely entered upon the path of reform under the advice of her true friend, notably France, and gave ethnical minorities full protection. In conclusion M. Leygues said that Turkey did wrong in the past but peace was being re-established and she, like other nations, was entitled to independence and sovereignty.

Hongkong Council Honors Memory Of Sir Henry May

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 16.—The Legislative Council today passed a resolution, stating that it had received with profound regret the news of the death of Sir Henry May. In expressing its deep sympathy with Lady May and her daughters in their bereavement, the Councillors desired to record their sense of the most valuable services rendered to Hongkong by Sir Henry May during his long and distinguished career in the Colony.

JAPANESE TRADE BODY COMPLAINS OF BAD BUSINESS

British Capturing Chinese Markets In Piece Goods

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 9.—The Japan Trading Association has made a written presentation to the leading members of the Imperial Diet in the Lower House regarding trade conditions. The document treats of the upward tendency of prices, the adverse condition of foreign trade and the growth of unemployment, all of which combine to create an economic depression which is causing general suffering.

The Trade Association claims that the failure of the Government to take hold of price regulation is reponsible and it suggests that the way out of the present difficulty is by checking currency inflation, regulation of foreign exchanges, restriction of the protective policy and economy in consumption.

Japanese merchants are also complaining of the condition of the trade with China. They claim that Great Britain, the United States and India are recovering their pre-war business and Japanese trade is suffering. This, they contend, is particularly true of the cotton goods trade, which Great Britain is slowly but surely capturing.

CALL CONFERENCE

The Government authorities will soon call a general conference of the cotton goods merchants in order to consider means to improve the situation.

Tokio, Feb. 10.—Japan's exports for the month of January totalled Y.787,000,000 while the imports amounted to Y.176,000,000. These figures when compared with the same month in the preceding year show an increase of Y.12,000,000 in exports and Y71,000,000 in imports.

One of the favorable indications in so far as the exports were concerned was the increase in the quantity of raw silk sent abroad. Increases were also noted in the export of matches and timber. There was a falling off in cotton, sugar and copper.

Among the imports increases were manifested in raw cotton, rice and woollen tessues while the amount of paper, petroleum and beancake shipped into Japan, was less than in the same month of 1921.

Tokio, Feb. 9.—According to the returns published by the Bank of Japan, the banks and other industrial establishments newly organised or expanded during the month of January this year numbered 109, with an aggregate capital of Y.82,000,000. Compared with the preceding month, the above indicates a decrease of 62 and a capitalisation of Y. 140,000,000. The following table gives the details:

BOYCOTT OF RECEPTION TO BRITISH HEIR IS FAILURE

Hartal Called Off When 100,000 Turn Out

STATUE UNVEILED

Prince Of Wales Dedicates Memorial To His Grandfather

(Reuter's Service)

Delhi, Feb. 15.—The complete hartal proclaimed in Dehli in view of the Prince of Wales's visit failed so entirely that the Non-cooperators' Committee last night posted notices in the city calling it off. The Chief of Police informed Reuter's special correspondent that from data collected he estimated that the crowds which collected to witness the arrival of the Prince on Tuesday afternoon totalled 100,000. It is true that a large proportion came in from the outlying districts, but such a reception made the hartal an absurdity.

This morning His Royal Highness unveiled the All-India Memorial to the late King Edward. The Viceroy delivered a fine eulogy of the ruler, who was also a friend, describing how the inception of this memorial was due to the Earl of Minto, who invited the people of India to subscribe 500,000 rupees for the purpose.

To the booming of the 101 guns the Prince released the two vast Union Jacks disclosing a fine Equestrian statue of the late King-Emperor in dark bronze upon a red stone pedestal.

In the evening the Viceroy gave a grand State banquet in the Prince of Wales's honor at which there were 236 guests present.

London, Feb. 15.—The newspapers severely criticise the Imperial and Indian governments for the pass to which they have allowed the situation in India to come. The cancellation of the decision to arrest Mr. Gandhi is strongly commented upon.

The Times urges the replacement of Mr. Montagu by a statesman of stronger fibre.

Bombay, Feb. 15.—The Nationalist leader, C. R. Das, has been sentenced to six months imprisonment.

Cadet Class In Japan Decreased

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 8.—The Navy Department announces that the new class of cadets in the naval academy in the coming school year will number 80, instead of 235 as heretofore. Private shipbuilding yards have been notified to suspend construction of capital ships, and the Mitsubishi company has stopped work on the Tosa and Takao, which means the discharge of about 9,000 workmen.

Naval aviators of Japan are going to take up parachute exercises in connection with their flying. Ten students have been selected from among the aviators and at the end of the present month will begin to take instructions from the British aviators at Kasumigaura.

NEW POLICE SYSTEM

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 9.—The newly-formed mobile police system to operate on the railways in conjunction with the railway officials will be inaugurated tomorrow on the Tokio-Kobe line, and if the results are reassuring will be established later throughout the Empire.

The authorities hope to be successful in minimising the over-growing number of crimes committed in connection with the railway services by this new system.

MONTEAGLE AND CHINA TO ARRIVE TOMORROW

Strike Bound Steamers Get Away From Hongkong

END NEAR, BELIEF

Chinese Newspapers Say Trouble Will Soon Be Over

After being held inactive for a month by the strike of seamen and dock workers at Hongkong the two passenger steamers Monteagle of the Canadian Pacific Steamships and the China of The China Mail sailed from the Crown Colony port Wednesday and now are on their way to Shanghai. The Monteagle is due to arrive off Woosung about 6 o'clock Saturday evening and the China will reach Woosung early Saturday morning. The China will sail Saturday night and the Monteagle Sunday morning for America.

As to how the Canadian Pacific Company expect to get the Empress of Russia away on schedule date is unknown here. The Hongkong office has cabled to state that they do not anticipate any trouble in this connection. The Empress of Russia employs 560 Chinese deck hands, while the Empress of Japan only has a complement of 190 Chinese seamen. No Ningpo men have yet been despatched for the Empress of Russia. The Empress of Asia is due here from Vancouver on Saturday and sails for Hongkong and Manila on the same day.

The Keystone State arrived in Hongkong yesterday, and sails from there for Shanghai on Saturday. She has on board a Filipino crew for the Silver State which is expected in Shanghai on February 21 and in Hongkong four days later.

The Keystone State will leave the crew of Filipinos secured especially for the Silver State in Hongkong. This crew will remain on board an old Shipping Board vessel at present lying in the Hongkong harbor, and will be looked after carefully. The Police have full control of the harbor in Hongkong.

SETTLEMENT NEAR

The strike of seamen at Hongkong is rapidly approaching a settlement according to telegrams from Hongkong appearing in the local Chinese press.

The Shanghai Journal of Commerce today carries a story to the effect that the Civil Administrator of Chinese Affairs at Hongkong has informed the strikers that if they will resume work the Governor of Hongkong will cancel the order dissolving the seamen's union. The seamen, according to the same paper, have received information that the shipping companies are about to make an offer of an increase in wages, but the percent is not given.

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Canton sent four representatives to Hongkong Wednesday to attempt to mediate in the strike, the Chinese press also states.

One Chinese newspaper carries a story to the effect that the British Consul at Canton notified the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs that Hongkong authorities are sending three supply ships to Canton, and warning the Seamen's Union not to interfere. The officials of the union are said to have replied that as the government has dissolved the union they have no control over the individual actions of the former members.

The dispatch of Ningpo deck hands from Shanghai to man vessels tied up in Hongkong on account of the seamen's strike there is proceeding quietly here.

NINGPO MEN ARRIVE

Last Monday the local offices of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company sent 125 hands on the S.S. Kwongsing. They were to arrived in Hongkong yesterday and will be able to get away three of the Indo-China vessels. The men have not been allocated to any particular ships at present, the matter of allocation being left to the head office in Hongkong. The Kwongsing was chartered to a Chinese to carry rice and passengers from Wuhu to Hongkong for one trip only and on her way from Wuhu picked up these three ship complements.

Orders to despatch more men from Shanghai are expected this week-end from Hongkong. Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Co., the agents of the Indo-China Steam

First Peek At Peking Reveals Plenty Soldiers

By Elsie McCormick

DEAR Mr. Editor:—This is just to let you know that we are in Peking. We happened to think that you might wonder what had become of us, so we decided we would let you know even if it does cost three cents.

At present we are located in a large hotel which has many modern improvements. There is a radiator in our room which gives a jazz concert from six to nine every morning and then plays "The Maidens' Prayer." By the way, Mr. Editor, have you ever thought of the wonderful musical possibilities in a well-tuned radiator? Any time a jazz orchestra goes on strike, all the management need do is turn on the radiators and the dancers will never know the difference.

A lot of our time so far has been occupied in seeing Peking. When we really want to see it, however, we don't call for a guide and a ricsha. It is much simpler to look in a mirror because most of Peking is on our face. You'd be surprised to see how much of the local color we have managed to pick up in just a few days.

STREET SPRINKLERS

They have a street sprinkling system here consisting of a bucket, a wooden ladle, and two chaperons in nifty blue uniforms. One of the functionaries rations out the water, while the second one stands around and legalises the process by his presence. We have figured out that at the established rate of speed, they will have laid the dust just eleven days after the Turkish Sultan is elected to the Moral Welfare Committee.

Judging from our present superficial observation, there are more kinds of soldiers in Peking than there are lost straw hats in the ticket office of a Scenic Railway. There is the black-coated, white-leggined variety that march with a goose-step and regulate the traffic. Their system of regulation is to reach out an arm when a speeding machine approaches, withdraw it hastily, just in time to prevent amputation, brush the dust off their uniforms, and look wistfully for the next car. The number of speeders they arrest each year about equals the total membership in the Employees' League for the Prevention of Increased Salaries.

Then there are the gentlemen in buff uniforms with earmuffs to match, who stand at attention on either side of the high-road until a wheel-barrow bumps them out of the way.

EAR-MUFFED FIGHTERS

We also noted another type of soldier labelled by circular ear-muffs that leave the ear exposed. Probably a good reader of ear-muffs could tell the rank, division, and date of the last pay-day by merely looking at the soldier's auricular overcoat. No doubt the Intelligence Department of the Chinese army has already worked out an ear-muff wig-wag system besides a secret code of communication by which a flap hanging down on one side means that the soldier would like a cup of tea. We can't understand the popularity of ear-muffs in the Chinese army, unless it is because the only way they can get a soldier near the firing-line is to prevent him from hearing the firing. Judging from what we have heard of the armies in action, their greatest need is for muffs on their feet.

Though soldiers are as numerous in Peking as sardines at a picnic, we have noted a fair sprinkling of other inhabitants. There are Manchu ladies with brilliantly painted cheeks and flattened black headdresses that faintly suggest the peasant caps of Alsace-Lorraine. There are ricsha coolies dressed in long padded robes, with bits of cotton filling looking out here and there—robes which they sometimes take off and deposit around their passenger's feet. Foreign residents who vaguely surmise the possibilities of padded robes are never very enthusiastic about the contact.

PEKING WEATHER

Before we ring off, we really should mention the Peking weather. It is even more conspicuous conversationally than the kind they manufacture in California. Fully 99 3-4 percent of our Peking acquaintances have remarked, "The climate here is so much more exhilirating than in Shanghai." It is. We grant it. A few days here and the most jaded resident of the Far East feels like shinnying up the pagodas and playing "Follow the leader" over the backs of the Peking camels.

Meanwhile one feels the beckoning of the courtyards in the Purple City, the lure of the yellow walls and tiled watch-towers, and the stare of the five little figures on the eaves who, because they were robbers, were turned into animals and condemned to sit forever on the slope of the roofs. It seems to us that in Peking their punishment is not terrible, for they can watch the camel-trains swing by, hear the strange calls of the vendors, and see the pilgrims pass at the full of the moon to offer expiation in the Temple of the Eighteen Hells.

Yes, Mr. Editor, we are inclined to think that we shall like Peking. Yours till Peking has a subway,

THE LADY FEATURE WRITER.

32 DEAD, 100 INJURED IN ERIN SINCE SATURDAY

Belfast Disorder Ends In Bayonet Charges

OUTLOOK DARK

Lord Birkenhead Sees Dawn Of Critical Period

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 15.—The continued disorders in Belfast culminated in a bayonet charge after the crowd had refused to disperse. One civilian was seriously injured. The deathroll since Saturday is 32 while over one hundred persons have been injured. Two of those kidnapped have been released.

London, Feb. 15.—Mr. Michael Collins arrived in London today to discuss with the Cabinet the new situation in Ireland.

The papers dwell on the gravity of the situation arising from the Ulster frontier troubles and the difficulty of the Government's position in having to give both the Provisional and the Ulster governments assurances.

Lord Birkenhead, speaking in the House of Lords, said that within the next few weeks we were to go through the most critical period probably in living memory and he did not know whether we would emerge successfully.

HARD ROW TO HOE

The Lord Chancellor focused attention on the situation which, he said, was extraodinarily complicated. On the one hand the Government was determined to push the passage of the Free State bill, legalising the treaty, in order to strengthen the hands of Messrs. Griffith and Collins against the disorderly elements which were flouting the Provisional Government's authority. On the other hand the Government felt bound to assist in the defence of Ulster against raids.

The unionist die-hards at Westminster were taking advantage of this situation, he said, and had given notice of an amendment declining to proceed with the bill until the murders, kidnappings, attacks and arrests had ceased.

Delay in the passage of the bill was bound to strengthen the recalcitrant Sinn Feiners. Mr. de Valera, in a proclamation issued last evening, announced that he was placing himself "at the head of a resurgent nation, purified by sufferings. The whole people are marching to the great destiny to which God has called the Gaelic race."

The fact that Mr. Collins is again consulting with Downing Street is exploited by the irreconcilable Republicans who are hoping to carry the Ard Feis or All-Ireland Sinn Fein Congress which is to be held in Dublin on February 21.

The Ulster frontier is quiet, but bloodshed continues in Belfast. Seven persons were killed last night. Altogether 24 persons have been killed and 70 wounded since Saturday.

VICTIMS FREED

London, Feb. 15.—Mr. Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that Mr. Michael Collins had secured the release of fifteen people who had been kidnapped and hoped that more would be liberated today.

Sir James Craig and Mr. Collins have agreed to Mr. Churchill's suggestion to appoint impartial commissions to proceed to the border and ascertain the facts and keep in touch with each other with a view to allaying the present very great reciprocal apprehension.

London, Feb. 15.—The evacuation of British troops from South Ireland was resumed today.

HOLY TRINITY MEMBERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Reports Given And Election Held—Rev. T. W. Hall To Join Staff

Officers were elected and reports were presented yesterday at the annual meeting of the subscribers to Holy Trinity Cathedral. Mr. P. Peebles was unanimously re-elected a trustee and Messrs. Allen, Dawe, Downie, Green, Young and Capt. R. Martin as the wis Wardens. Mr. A. C. Clear, the honorary treasurer likewise was re-elected Dean's Warden.

Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul General presided at the meeting, the first business of which was the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting. On motion of Mr. Edney Page, seconded by Mr. Peebles the report and accounts of the trustees were adopted after which Dean Symons spoke.

In presenting the report and accounts of the Vestry the Dean voiced thanks to those who had carried forward the work of the Cathedral during his furlough at home and he also thanked the trustees for a gift of £300 that had been sent to him while he was in England.

Dean Symons said it was with keen regret that the resignation as Organist of Mr. Ronald B. Hurry had been received. He said Mr. Hurry had filled the post of organist for many years and his work had been a source of inspiration to many. Continuing the Dean announced an addition to the staff of the Cathedral in the person of the Rev. T. W. Hall who will soon arrive in Shanghai to take up in particular work among the men of the Royal Navy and the Mercantile Marine.

On the subject of the budget Mr. Clear who offered the motion for its adoption said there was a deficit of $1,480, and he expressed the hope that it would be removed in the course of the year.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Sir Everard Fraser.

German Revival Not The Fault Of Britain, He Says

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 15.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons, Mr. Mitchell Thompson, on behalf of the Board of Trade, said that he was aware that German trade in China and the Far East was showing signs of recovery, but he did not think that this could be attributed to lack of official aid given to British trade. It was impossible, he said, to undertake the expense of an additional staff at present.

MONTEAGLE AND CHINA COMING

Navigation Company, do not anticipate any trouble in securing these hands. They have already offers from Ningpo men willing to go down to Hongkong, sufficient to get half a dozen or more boats away immediately.

The Ningpo men sent down on Monday get no more than the old scale of wages, and if the large number of Indo-China vessels that are held up in Hongkong succeed in leaving it should serve to break the deadlock. The companies principally affected today by the strike in Hongkong are the China Navigation and the Indo-China.

Of the Indo-China fleet of fifty boats at least 15 are tied up at present in Hongkong, while the number of China Navigation vessels tied up there is estimated to be twelve at least.

Two of the Indo-China vessels held up in Hongkong are on the Calcutta run, and it is quite likely that the complement that was sent down on Monday may be diverted to these two boats and to one that is on the Hongkong-Shanghai run. There are about 40 Chinese deck hands employed on each Indo-China boat, and it is, therefore, considered easy for the company to recruit Ningpo men for these vessels.

Chita Forces Take Habarovsk

(Daily News Agency)

Peking, Feb. 16.—Official announcement has been made that the People's Revolutionary Army occupied Habarovsk on February 14 at 3 p.m. with practically no resistance on the part of the White forces which had evacuated the city to save themselves from capture when the Chita Army's tactics showed an enveloping movement was imminent.

The loss of Habarovsk which the Whites had made their base in an effort to bring all the Priamar under their sway is a terrible setback and the backbone of the Kappelist campaign against the Far Eastern Republic which functions from Chita is believed to have been broken.

It is also the worst setback the Japanese have received in their Siberian policy of "diviso et imperio" under which they have arrayed various disgruntled factions against that which is striving to build up a stable government in Siberia. The Japanese are known to have aided the Kappelite forces with munitions and goods until their defeat recently appeared imminent.

Captured White officers have blamed the Japanese bitterly for getting them to take the field and then withdrawing support, this action being due in part, it is stated, to the unequivocal attitude taken against Japan's Siberian activities by the Washington Government and supported by the powers that attended the Disarmament Conference.

American Chamber Hosts To Chinese

President V. G. Lyman and members of the Executive Committee of the American Chamber of Commerce were hosts at a dinner given last night at the Union Club for President C. C. Impromptu speeches were made and the affair was distinguished by a pleasing spirit of fraternity and co-operation between the members of the two commercial bodies.

Form Commission For Liquidation Of Government's Loans

A Commission for the Liquidation of Foreign and Internal Loans has been established under the directorship of Kao Ling-wei, the former Minister of Finance. The Auditing Bureau, the Bureau of Government Bonds, the Chinese Banking Association, the Chamber of Commerce at Peking and the Loan Commission are each represented by one committeeman on the board.

The commission will devise means of consolidating the domestic and foreign loans and supervise the disposal of the issue of treasury bonds amounting to $96,000,000, according to report received here.

URGES PUBLIC CONTROL

Public control of government finance as a means of avoiding international control is advocated in a telegram filed by Tuchun Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang under date of Feb. 14. The salient features of Lu's suggestion are the publication of a complete list of all domestic and foreign loans contracted by the Northern Government and the organisation of Council of Controllers representing all the recognised public bodies of the Republic to supervise all financial matters.

General Lu would vest the right of increasing the tariff and of issuing bonds with the Council, which will be abolished upon the formal establishment of a Parliament.

Members of the Dutch royal family and the Dutch Government, representatives of the League of Nations and of the International Labor Bureau and officials and diplomats were present when the judges, attired in rich robes, took the oath.

The city was gaily decorated.

Less Pilfering Of Ships' Cargoes

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 15.—It is authoritatively stated that the pilferage of goods in transit by sea-going vessels is now diminishing, particularly in Liverpool, in consequence of the effective action of the shipping companies and altered conditions since the war.

An international gang was reported to have been operating previously, especially in the Far East, but the risk has now been made too great for thieves and receivers.

Court Reserves Judgment In River Collision Case

Judgment was reserved by Judge Skinner Turner and the Nautical Assessor, Lieut. Commander C. A. Browne, yesterday at the conclusion of argument in the suit brought by the British-American Tobacco Company against the China Navigation Company as a result of a collision between the steamer Hoihow and a cigarette cargo boat in the Whangpoo last October.

Mr. R. N. Macleod, for the defendants, in closing said that there was conflicting evidence. He proposed therefore as far as possible to accept the evidence brought against him as this attitude would be of greater help to the court than if he disregarded the evidence. He submitted that the story of the defense, supported by three men who were on the ship, should be given greater credence than the story of one witness, no matter how well trained, who had watched the collision from the shore. He submitted that the Hoihow was entitled to take the course she did and as to the conduct of the ship after the collision with regard to the men in the water, there was a motor launch and a number of sampans in attendance and there was really nothing the Hoihow could have done which was not done by the people already on the scene.

Mr. Reader Harris, for the plaintiffs, said Mr. Macleod had remarked that there was considerable conflicting evidence and that the evidence of some of the witnesses could not, therefore, be honest. In the case there were independent witnesses. There were two important aspects in the case. One was the manner in which the Hoihow struck the cargo boat. He could not agree that this was not sufficient to decide who was responsible for the collision. The other point which was greatly in dispute was what steps were taken by the Hoihow immediately prior to the collision, because according to the vidence the Hoihow went slow for a few minutes and stopped for a few minutes and, immediately after the collision, was proceeding at a speed of four or five knots, which was described by a witness as the usual speed for steamers going up. It was for the court to decide one way or the other. The only allegation that the defendants made against his clients was that there was not a proper look-out kept by the cargo boat. Counsel on the other side had admitted that the steamer had changed her course. She should have communicated this fact to the cargo boat. She should never have got over to the port side of the Pootung channel. It effected the position very much.

Chinese Students Sailing For U. S.

Eleven Chinese students will sail on the steamer China for the United States to pursue their studies in American universities. Of these, six are supported by the government, while the others are self-supporting. Five are entering the University of California, two will register with Harvard University and one each will join Columbia, Great Western, Michigan and Ohio State.

PSYCHOLOGICAL FACTORS

In these days of psychological investigation human thought is turning in the direction of a more general application of mental forces. Herstofore we have been accustomed to think of ourselves as victims of circumstances or so called "BAD LUCK." It has not occured to us in the past that ourselves could be largely instrumental in eliminating undesirable circumstances from our lives by silently subjecting them to a scientific treatment through the power of thought and integration of mental forces. The great cause of suffering, poverty and sickness is ignorance of the Law of Mind. Whenever a person becomes enlightened through knowledge all kinds of inharmony in life, or suffering of whatever form begin to decrease until they entirely disappear. There is no more persistent nor distressing error of the human mind than that of financial depression. And there are almost as many phases of it as there are phases of physical disease. Many rich men are poor, suffering from lack of health and vitality. Through force of necessity they are driven to all kinds of mental anguish which tortures body and conditions of life. There are many things that money cannot buy, and thus it is in this extremity that man should awaken and apply his mind forces.

Instructions are given by correspondence describing the method by which all difficulties and disagreeable conditions can be overcome by application of mental forces. Please apply to Box 271, THE CHINA PRESS.

Great Church Conference To Be Held Here Next May

Shanghai will have the honor of entertaining in May a gathering of one thousand men and women representatives of the Protestant Christian Church throughout China. This will be the largest and probably the most significant single event in the history of the Church in this country since its beginning. In previous years four national conferences have been held, but the coming conference will for the first time be an even counselling together of the proportionately diminishing mission forces and the leaders of the Chinese Church. About 500 of the delegates will be Chinese and 500 foreign. At the 1907 conference none of the delegates was Chinese.

The mission work of China is correlated by the China Continuation Committee, which was established in 1913 as an outgrowth of the 1910 World's Missionary Conference at Edinburgh. A year ago this organisation arranged for the election for forty representatives from all parts of China who form the Committee on Arrangements for the Conference. The headquarters of this Conference Committee are at 5 Quinsan Gardens, Shanghai, and the executive officers are: Chairman, Mr. Rev. F. R. Graves; general secretaries, Rev. C. Y. Cheng, Rev. E. C. Lobenstine and Miss Myfanwy Wood; executive secretaries, Rev. T. C. Wu and Rev. W. R. Roberts.

Christianity is more than four times as strong in China now than it was twenty years ago. There are 366,000 members of Protestant churches and over 6,000 missionaries. One thousand delegates, a number set by the capacity of the Town Hall, is a very limited number to represent so great a national force. There is keen interest in the registration, and with the increasing difficulty of "getting in" the Conference is increasing in popularity. First preference is being given to secure the most democratic representation from all sections of the country; even the members of the Committee on Arrangements are not eligible unless elected by their churches and mission boards.

STRONG LEADERS COMING

From other countries a score or more of distinguished leaders in Christian work will come as fraternal delegates. Some of these visitors will combine attendance at the Shanghai Conference with participation in the gathering of the World's Student Christian Federation which occurs in Peking in April; these two conferences make 1922 a marked year in the Christian history of China.

Interest in the National Christian Conference is also deepening all over China through preparatory research work which is being done by several hundreds of men and women in connection with the five main commissions which are to bring reports before the Conference. The Conference theme is "The Chinese Church," and the program will center almost entirely in these five reports on the principal aspects of the Church: "The Present Status of Christianity in China;" "The Future Task of the Church;" "The Message of the Church;" "The Leadership of the Church;" and "Co-ordination of the Various Church Agencies."

In simpler terms some of the issues at stake in the Conference are:

"Is the Christian Church in China sufficiently flexible and progressive to be a leading force in the nation at a time of such tremendous political, intellectual and social upheaval as the present?

"Can the Church appeal to and Christianise the genuine desire for social service now stirring the younger generation of Chinese, by fully supplementing its theological interpretation of Christianity with an adequate program of social activities?

WHAT NEW FORMS?

"What new form of religious services, of church architecture, of administrations, etc., will originate in the Chinese Church as the Chinese people are given more scope in its development?

"How can women be given a more adequate place in the life of the Church? (It is of interest to know that special emphasis is being placed upon the attendance of women at the Conference.)

"Can the imported obstacles of denominationalism be overcome?

"Are the missions adventurous and generous enough to go far more than half way, at this most crucial time, in trusting leadership to the Chinese?

"Are there actually enough leaders and funds among Chinese Christians to justify radical steps in this direction at the present time? If not, what better will produce both leaders and funds than just such a venture of faith?

"How may the China Continuation Committee best give place to a new National Christian Council which shall be primarily Chinese?"

The official languages of the Conference are to be Mandarin and English. In addition to the regular sessions for consideration of the above reports, there will undoubtedly be certain features open to the general public, thus giving to the citizens of Shanghai a sense of participating in this gathering.

To entertain one thousand visitors for ten days is no small enterprise even for the Model Settlement, but traditional Shanghai hospitality is of such a nature as to encourage the Hospitality Committee in its plans for asking within the next few weeks for the names of those who will be able to open their homes to one or more delegates at the time of the Conference.

A Chinese committee is arranging for the entertainment of the Chinese delegates, and foreign residents will be asked to entertain the foreign delegates from China and abroad. An Honorary Committee of Hosts and Hostesses is at present being formed which will represent all the leading organisations of Shanghai. There is every indication already that the city will open its doors to this host of visitors, and that many of the residents of Shanghai will welcome this as an opportunity to come more intimately into contact with some of the leading issues now claiming the interest of the Chinese people.

CHARITY BALL FOR RUSSIAN FUNDS IS ENTIRE SUCCESS

Several thousand dollars were realised last night by the fancy dress charity ball held at the Astor House Hotel under the auspices of the Russian Benevolent Society and the Union of Russian Military Service Men.

The Astor ball room was crowded throughout the evening by a picturesque throng numbering over 600 and in addition to the regular dance numbers there was a program of Russian and gypsy dances, with a "gypsy chorus" of twenty which delighted everyone.

The advance ticket sale alone netted about $3,000 for the fund and tickets sold last night and "fines" imposed upon those who failed to appear in costume are expected to swell the total considerably. The money is to be used in aiding destitute refugees here and in providing homes and establishing soup kitchens.

The costumes were principally on the Russian peasant and gypsy order, providing plenty of color and the whole affair was a thoroughly enjoyable one. The Astor orchestra was at top form and the Astor management handled all the details of service to the satisfaction of everyone.

The ball committee consisted of: Mesdames Bleuler, Desnitsky-Stone, Grosse, Heiman, Ivanoff, de Krziwoszewsky, Nakvasin, de Pac de Marsoulis, Hugo Reiss, R. E. Sassoon, Straetmans, Wilden and Colonel Ducimetiere, Mr. Ivanoff, Admiral Kovalevsky, General Riabikoff, General Walter, Mr. Boutiriskoff.

TITLE DEED CASE UP FOR HEARING IN BRITISH COURT

Widow Of Chinese Seeks To Get Possession Of Lot Or Its Value

Hearing of the case of Chun Chang-sze against Tam Wa involving a contest for possession of title deeds of B. C. Lot 4002 alleged to be wrongly retained by the defendant opened yesterday in the British Supreme Court before Judge Peter Grain.

Mr. P. W. Goldring and Mr. Anderson appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Lipson Ward for the defendant.

The plaintiff submitted that she was the wife of the deceased Chun Kam Mun, who died intestate on September 6, 1913, and he had a beneficiary interest of one share in this lot, and his share and interest on his death became vested in her. Since his death the plaintiff had acquired the rights and titles and interest of the other members of the syndicate who bought this particular lot.

In a letter dated November 20, 1913 the defendant promised to deliver to the plaintiff the title deeds of the land subject to certain terms contained therein. On January 5, 1921 a document was delivered by the defendant to the plaintiff's counsel setting out the accounts as between the plaintiff and defendant, and submitting there was due from the plaintiff to the defendant the sum of Tls. 4,744.68. This amount was tendered by the plaintiff to the defendant, but the latter refused to accept same.

The defense set up is interesting. After setting out that the defendant had become the registered owner of the lot in January 25, 1908, it states that the lot is held by the defendant as trustee of the Cantonese Hwa Tak Investment Syndicate, which at all material times were and are the beneficial owners of the lot.

As regards the letter that was written to the plaintiff, the defendant stated that it was sent at the request of Chun Kam Mun. The defendant loaned to Chun the sum of Tls. 2,000 which is still owing. Since August 1, 1909 the lot has been subject to an equitable mortgage to Choong To-chee of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank to secure the repayment of the principal sum of Tls. 10,000 and interest thereon. The defendant further submitted that the offer contained in his letter to the plaintiff was never accepted by the latter, which was to the effect that the syndicate be first paid off and the mortgages be redeemed.

Five-Year Term For Forger Of $87,000 Checks

The Chinese book-keeper, Loh Kwe-ming, who forged the name of F. M. Sah, director of the Shanghai mint, to $87,000 worth of checks and was arrested here on the eve of departing for Japan with drafts and cash, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment by Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Yui in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Questioned by the Magistrate the accused stated that he had lost a considerable amount of money gambling and on stock exchanges and admitted that he had falsified the accounts which he kept for Mr. Sah as the latter's private book-keeper. All of the money which he obtained by the forgeries was recovered by the police except about $1,000. Some of it was found on his person after he had been arrested in the Chekiang Industrial Bank premises by Detective Inspector Eek and Detective Sergeant Douglas. Two drafts for a total of Yen 62,000 the prisoner produced from the heel of his shoe after his father and mother had visited him in his cell at Louza police station and begged him to return what he had stolen.

Mr. Sah testified that he had known Loh since he was a boy of 12 and had taken a personal interest in him. He had recommended him for a position in the Bank of China, he said, and five years ago made him his personal book-keeper.

Mr. Sah went to Peking on business on February 8 and while he was absent from Shanghai the book-keeper, who was close in Mr. Sah's confidence and had access to his checkbooks, forged Mr. Sah's name to checks on the Chekiang Industrial Bank for Tls. 9,000 and $3,500; on the Bank of Communications for Tls. 2,000 and $6,500; on the Bank of East Asia for Tls. 22,000 and on the Shanghai Commercial Savings Bank for Tls. 9,000 and $7,000.

Bank clerks testified that the signature on the checks was an excellent likeness of Mr. Sah's signature, but he declared it was "a forty percent imitation."

Amtraco Five Take Third Position Again; Bearcats Win 15th Straight Game

Public School And Fearon Daniels Lose; S.A.S. Drop Down List

The Amtraco basketball five last night took its place again at third position in the Foreign League standings, on a close win, after a good game, over the Shanghai Public School, and the Bearcats, in the second game of the evening scored its fifteenth straight win by beating the Fearon Daniel five 43-16. Both games were played on the "Y" floor.

The first game was a close one. Amtraco used Armstrong again, this time at guard, with Young at center, to fill the hole left by Tinkham's departure and Maloney's absence from town. The lineup worked well, but the fine passing and combination of the school kept them hustling until the last minutes to scratch out but three points to the good.

Smith and Levis were the big goal getters, the former for the hong and the latter for the school. Each basketted five. Armstrong pocketted three from guard on fast offensive work. Johannson, for the School scored three for his team. Other points were scattered.

The Bearcats had their game all the way. Pettit filled in for Dr. Gray, who will be out of town for the remainder of the season, and Wilhelmni relieved him later. The pair scored seven goals from the position. Irle got seven more and Roxburgh five. Fearon Daniel also played a changed lineup, with Dennison at forward, and Kay at center. Scott worked at guard where Patziaff usually plays.

MACHINE GUN COMPANY

Again we have to report a football success for the Machine Gunners, who last Sunday defeated the Customs Company by an easy margin, thus passing on to the final of the S.V.C. league competition. The other finalists are the "Scottish," and as both Companies rather fancy their chances of victory a very keen match is to be expected. Both sides contain a very large percentage of first class players and the match is sure to be a good one in every way. It will probably be played on the afternoon of Sunday March 5.

Last Sunday morning a further detachment carried out short range firing practice, and the whole unit has now passed once through this stage of training. It is hoped, if time and range facilities permit, to arrange for every man to fire at least four separate practices during the training season—two on the short range and two at 400 yards. These constant practices, particularly those on the long range (which are something of an innovation in Shanghai) should do much to increase the efficiency of the unit. With Machine Guns, as with all guns, to gain success either in action or in training, no better advice can be followed than that given by a certain Gunner General during the War, who said "Your first duty is to shoot, your second duty is to shoot, and your third duty is to shoot." (Note by Commandant: The great Napoleon was the originator of this phrase.)

Arrangements for the forthcoming Unit Camp are now beginning to take shape. The Company will march into camp on the evening of Friday, March 17 until the morning of Monday, March 20. The major part of the time in camp will be occupied in firing the annual Musketry and Machine Gun Courses, but it is hoped to put in some useful training in the tactical use of the Armored Cars and possibly some night firing.

SHANGHAI SCOTTISH

The Scottish recently have put in a lot of hard work especially on the Range, and of the total only twelve have yet to complete their Musketry Course. Of these, five are recruits who have yet to go through their recruits course and two are on sick leave. The company up to date can boast of nine marksmen, and ten first class shots. No. 3 Section leads with three marksmen, two first class shots and one each second and third class shots. Tht average score of the seven works out at 132 or roughly 67 per cent of the total possible. This is looked upon as an excellent record. The average for the Company up to date is 102 or 52.30 of the total possible.

On Tuesday next the Company will be out in full strength, and will be instructed in street fighting. This is one of the efficiency parades, absence from which can only be obtained by medical certificate.

Captain G. L. Campbell resigned his commission on his return from home leave and Lieut. A. S. Campbell was duly appointed to the command. In bidding farewell to Mr. Campbell as a volunteer, the Company desires to place on record a tribute to the work he accomplished under exceedingly difficult and trying conditions and at the same time to congratulate Lieut. Campbell on his appointment to Captain.

BRITISH INF. RESERVES

The Unit Service Meeting was held last Saturday afternoon and was concluded on Sunday morning. The meeting proved a great success and there were 49 entries. The "Old Guard" again had their proverbial good "Joss" in the matter of fine weather but a changeable light and 'tricky' wind proved rather a handicap to good shooting.

Concurrently with the Unit Service Meeting, Part II of the A. M. C. was fired under the supervision of the H. Q. Staff to whom are due the best thanks of the Unit for the smooth running of the meeting. The general 'turn-

Levis' V. Wins Again In S. P. S. Tourney

In the second round of the inter-class basketball tourney of the Shanghai Public School, postponed until yesterday because of bad weather, the Margarets, which is captained by Levis, the star of the S. P. S. Big Five, scored its second win, Capt. Brockett's five being the loser. The score was 7-5. Levis scored five of his team's seven baskets.

Only one match was played due to the inability of several players of other teams to turn out.

The teams were:

Margarets — Levis (Capt.), Dietz, Tajima, Whynne, Cooke.

Dollies — Brockett (Capt.), Mandelkorn, Carlson, Anderson, Hutchinson.

Mr. Twindle refereed.

The standings of the teams follow:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Margarets	2	0	1000
Helens	1	0	1000
Dollies	0	2	.000
Tessies	0	1	.000

The league play is scheduled to be finished by the end of March.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AND ST. XAVIER'S DRAW AT SOCCER

Honors were divided between the Shanghai Public School and St. Francis Xavier's Senior, Junior and Midget football teams in their inter-school matches on Wednesday. The S. P. S. won the Senior match 8-0, drew the Junior game at 1 all, and lost to the Xavier midgets in the last match 0-2. The games were played at Hongkew Park.

Much interest had been aroused in the Schools over the Senior match as the Public School had won by the comparatively narrow margin of four to two on their last meeting. The Public School commenced a determined onslaught on their opponents' goal. After nine minutes Jesu finished a brilliant run by passing to Cumine who scored the first goal for the Public School. Four minutes later the same player notched another.

The St. Xavier's rallied but were unable to make much headway against the Public School's sterling defense—Brown, at centerhalf, and Seimssen, at left back, being especially good. Shortly before half time Jesu scored a beautiful cross goal, while three minutes later Madar scored a fourth goal for the Public School from a free kick just outside of the penalty area.

In spite of having the wind in their favor during the second half, the St. Xavier boys were kept on the defensive. Jesu was playing brilliant football for the Public School and the opposition backs were having an anxious

Football Club And Recs Play Feature Matches In Both Divisions Tomorrow

"A" Teams To Use Recs' Field; Seconds Play On S.F.C. Grounds

League football play resumes tomorrow after approximately one month's lay off, due to the holidays, the playing of special trophy matches, and to the weather. Seven matches are scheduled for tomorrow, three in the first division and four in the second.

The feature match of the day will be that between the Football Club and the Recs on the latter's field. The former eleven are leaders of their division; the Recs are in third position, but are competent to play any team in the league a tussling game. Other first division matches are listed between the Police and Portuguese and the Customs and Xaviers, both at Hongkew park.

In the second division the Club and the Recs again will furnish the principal match. The two elevens are billed to play on the S. F. C. field. The Rangers meet the Navy on the Police field, and the School and the Jewish club play on the Polo field. The fixture between the Portuguese and the Electricity Dept. will not be played due to the latter eleven having cancelled all of its unfulfilled schedule.

The following are announced to represent the Jewish Club against the Public School: D. Whiteman, D. Blumenthal, S. Caccia, A. Pfeifer, C. Fuxman, R. J. Moalem, B. Pfeifer, J. B. Katz (Captain), H. J. Sanft, H. Fiene, L. Feingold. Reserves: J. H. Levis, I. Weinberg, J. Z. Moalem.

out' of the unit was particularly smart.

At the conclusion of shooting on Sunday morning an adjournment was made for tiffin which was served on the Range. Captain Stewart and H. Q. Staff were the guests of the Unit at Tiffin to which all did full justice and which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

On Tuesday evening last, an O.Cs' Parade was held at which there was a very good muster of members. The Unit co-operated with "B" Company, British and some instructive work in Company Drill was got through. The assistance and supervision of Corps Sergt.-Major Leighton was much appreciated by all ranks on parade.

As the Training Season is now well advanced, members are urged to redouble their efforts to attend all remaining drills. Further drills will be held at 5-45 p.m. at the Drill Hall on the following Tuesdays, 28th February, 14th and 28th March.

Public School And St. Xavier's Draw At Soccer

time being practically penned up in their penalty area. During a bombardment of their goal Rose handled, and Madar had no difficulty in scoring. Jesu, too, registered two further goals in quick succession. An eighth goal for the Public School was added by Cumine and the whistle went without any further score.

This victory of eight to nil is the greatest the Public School has ever won against the St. Xavier's College. Five years ago the St. Xavier's Senior XI had been winning the Carlill Cup regularly for years, their score against the other Schools always being very heavy, but the Public School Senior XI improved in the following year and lost their final match by three to two only. In the following year the School showed further improvement and their victory Wednesday made it certain that they will hold the Carlill Cup again this year for the third year in succession.

The Juniors game was very well contested. The S.F.X.C. boys started by an attack on the School goal. The School retaliated but were repulsed. Both sides worked hard and gained opportunities to score but failed in front of goal. Parker for the Public School saved two hard shots at the expense of corners but the St. Xavier boys failed to score. Early in the second half the St. Xavier XI scored after a scrimmage in front of goal. The Public School returned to the attack, however, and after a fine solo run Kabelitz equalised with a long drooping shot. There was no further score.

S.F.X.C. MIDGETS 2, S.P.S. 0

The S.F.X.C. midgets very quickly attacked and the S.P.S. goal-keeper was kept busy. He carried out his duties successfully until he was beaten by his own left half who mis-kicked backwards and scored against his own side. With the wind against them the S.P.S. found it hard to get the ball into their opponents' half. After the interval the S.P.S showed better form, but their shooting was weak and the forwards lost many opportunities by keeping the ball instead of passing quickly. They were moreover not as well supported by their center-half and right back as they should have been. Ten minutes before time, the S.F.X.C. forwards broke away and scored again. The S.P.S. again attacked but failed to beat the opposing goal-keeper. The S.F.X.C. appeared the heavier team and their combination was superior to that of their opponents. In the S.P.S. team, most credit belonged to the goal-keeper and the outside-right.

Dempsey Will Box In Europe, If Terms Suit

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 14.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, will meet Georges Carpentier, European titleholder in London, providing promoters for such a match would post substantial guarantees. So says Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager. Kearns did not indicate whether he would be willing to accept an offer carrying a smaller purse than that put up by Tex Rickard at Jersey City.

"Dempsey is ready to meet Carpentier or any other contender for the title," Kearns said, "but whoever promotes such a match will have to put up a guaranty suitable to us. Jack is also willing to have the bout staged in London or any place where conditions are favorable."

HUMAN INTEREST

Seeking human interest in your page
I started in to read,
But found no sobbish stories
That make one's heart to bleed.

But underneath your heading here
Is one who asks a place
And tells a plaintive story
It almost cracked my face.

He wants a chance to try machines!
I've tried some in my days
But now keep far away from them,
And find it always pays.

When I was but a tender lad
I saw a buzz-saw buzzing.
And like a flash my finger
The sawdust was a mussing.

Then came my first electric fan,
That anyone could see through.
I almost lost my hand that time,
And wonder that could be so.

I like to see the wheels go round
But not with me around them
My feet got caught in a cog one day,
And crutches—oh, confound them.

I always have a conscience qualm
When near a powder mill.
I dropped a match in one one day
They never found my poor pal Bill.

So he can try all new machines.
Till in the dark can tell 'em,
I'll stick awaile to my taipan job—
As for machines—I'll sell 'em.

Cabinet Crisis In Peking Relieved

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 13.—While there is still no sign of a settlement of the Cabinet crisis, the situation appears to be less tense than it was a few days ago. General Wu Pei-fu stubbornly maintains his stand against the retention of Mr. Liang Shih-yi as Premier, but he has made it clear in a communication to General Tsao Kun that his disapproval is confined to Mr. Liang and does not extend to the other members of the Cabinet.

In view of this it is thought that Mr. Chang Hu is likely to remain as Minister of Finance after any readjustment of the Cabinet which may take place. Who is to succeed Premier Liang in the event of his definitely retiring from office is, however, as uncertain as ever. The Chihli faction while insisting on his retirement, has not proposed a successor, while the Anfu party are equally silent on this aspect of the case.

It is thought unlikely that any action will be taken before the arrival of General Chan Chinghuei, who has been playing the role of mediator, from Mukden.

Justice is always pictured as being blind-folded, to represent absolute impartiality. But in order to exercise sound judgment in ordinary affairs of life, good eyesight is usually of the utmost importance.

Only a small percentage of people who live in cities have eyes that do not need attention. Those who need glasses and do not have them suffer an enormous strain upon their vitality. Let us test your eyes.

Japan's Military Chief Opposed To One Year Service

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Feb. 15.—At a committee today in connection with the restriction of land-forces, replying to interpellations made by Messrs Inugai, President of the Kokuminto Party and Chuji Shimooka, leader of the Kenseikai Party, Lieutenant General Yamanashi, Minister of War, made the folowing statement: "Though a reduction of the term of military service is also desired by the authorities concerned, it must be understood that during only one year's service sufficient military education and training cannot be given to soldiers. The authorities, therefore, are now endeavoring to reduce military expenses as much as possible but within such limits that the foundations of national defense may not be weakened."

What The News From Habarovsk Means

DURING the past few days, very glowing reports have been continuously pouring in from Vladivostok through Reuter's Pacific Service regarding the successes of the White Army of the Merkulov Government, which took the offensive against the forces of the Far Eastern Republic about the end of November of last year, capturing Habarovsk and a small portion of the Amur railroad to the west of that town. It soon became evident however that the White Army had gone beyond its depth, so to speak, for on the 13th inst, Reuter's Pacific Service reported that, owing to Habarovsk being badly situated strategically, the Whites had withdrawn from the town temporarily to safer positions in the south, in expectation of a left flanking attack on the part of the People's Revolutionary Army.

That this latter communication should follow so closely upon the laudatory descriptions of the White Army's drive north indicates that the fall of the town of Habarovsk into the hands of the Chita forces must have been foreseen and recognised as a foregone conclusion, so that Reuter's previous reports were intended to serve as the medium for breaking the news gently and preparing the world for the surprise.

From the official report received yesterday from the Rosta News Agency dated Peking, the town of Habarovsk fell to the People's Revolutionary Army on the 14th inst. at 3 p.m. Habarovsk has been taken and retaken several times by the People's Army since civil warfare began in the territory of the Russian Far East and the news of its having again fallen must have been viewed by those who have been following events recently, especially since the creation of the Merkulov Government in May of last year, as inevitable. It is even safe to predict that, if Reuter's communication of the 13th inst., to the effect that the Japanese are inactive and indifferent be true, the White Army will be driven back to Vladivostok without any difficulty on the part of the Chita Army.

The fact that Habarovsk is badly situated strategically for an army making an attack upon it from the south is no military secret and explains the actions of the Japanese Military authorities in the month of March, 1920 (when they were forced to evacuate it), in removing every possible means of defense and mining the various military barracks, etc., so that the Chita Army would find itself at a decided disadvantage when opposing the Japanese forces, which latter clash took place about a month after the evacuation. The town, after the famous events of the 5-6th of April, and the Chita forces, in the opinion of military experts, represented a picture of devastation scarcely surpassed by any of those on the German front. It was during this fight that the Chita army blew up the northern part of the Amur railroad bridge in order to halt the Japanese approach.

The failure of the White Army to hold Habarovsk against the People's army proves one outstanding fact. Recently much has been published from Vladivostok with the express object of defending Japan's position in respect to the offensive of the White Army having been undertaken without any assistance being given by the Japanese militarists, but the recent declaration officially made by General Molchanov, Commander of the Kappel Forces, to his men, in which he describes himself and his followers as being "condemned to death," clearly proves that so risky a military adventure as the taking of Habarovsk, which is so badly situated strategically, must have been planned and accomplished by the White Army only on assurances having been received of a certain amount of material aid and a large draught of moral support on the part of Japan, without which neither the Kappel forces nor any other Russian military reactionary group would ever have ventured.

Coming events cast their shadows before so that when reports began to make their appearance from the official sources of the Merkulov Government blaming certain commercial firms in Vladivostok for speculation and refusing to support the Army, it became pretty evident that something had gone wrong and the collapse of the White Army scheme was inevitable. Japan's hand had been called and she dared not further, even secretly, assist the Whites. The reason for the abandonment of the military scheme doubtless can be explained by the results of the deliberations of the Washington Conference and it is within the realms of possibility that the Merkulov Government has been officially requested to cease all civil warfare in the Far East.

General Molchanov's cry of despair certainly contains much food for reflection. It shows that he is evidently disappointed in the decision to terminate what to him and other Russian reactionaries appeared to be the saving of Russia. The whole episode is but another demonstration proving how easy it is to play upon the susceptibilities of a people in the throes of revolution and how unscrupulous a third party can be in such affairs. It is to be hoped that the agreements arrived at by the Big Four have already come into existence and all further bloodshed in the Russian Far East will cease from now henceforth.

IS THERE CO-OPERATIVE SAVING IN YOUR HOUSE?

Thousands of couples are doing some close figuring at the present.

They are figuring on the amount earned and trying to calculate how to make the savings bigger.

Sometimes the husbands are extravagant and the wives are saving and there are cases where the reverse is true.

Often those who save become discouraged by the expenditures of the other and feel there is no use in scrimping along for the other to have more to spend.

This frequently results in quarrels, and the saving one turns spend thrift and before long the domestic condition is in a bad way.

The family bank account cannot grow as it should unless each member of the family is glad and willing to save.

The co-operative spirit is as necessary at home in financial matters as it is in the business world.

The man who works hard, denies himself new things in order to save, is going to balk sometimes if his wife spends-

Canton's Claim To Legality

By Orrin Keith

THE government under Dr. Sun Yat-sen with its present headquarters at Canton calls itself the "Constitutionalist Government of China" and insists that it is the legal government of the Republic. In all of its communications it characterises the Peking administration as an "usurpation" and its head as "Illegal President Hsu." The argument by which the southern jurisconsults arrive at this conclusion is not merely a political one for propaganda purposes. It is a logical presentation and involves a number of legal propositions which, if not conclusive, at least must be refuted before their claim can be dismissed.

Canton's argument rests upon the Provisional Constitution of 1912, the only constitution which has ever been formally adopted by a body representing the people of China. As this constitution is also the ostensible basis of the Peking government's claim to authority it is not necessary to go further back. Article 16 provides that "the legislative power of the Chinese Republic is exercised by the National Council." Article 53 provides for the calling of a National Assembly to take over the powers of the Council. This Assembly, or Parliament as it is usually called, was convened in April of 1913 and its legality is admitted by both North and South.

Soon after the convocation of the National Assembly it became evident that the struggle in China was to be more than a struggle between imperialism and democracy, more than a struggle between North and South. There developed almost immediately a contest between the executive and the legislative branches of the republican government itself. Parliament was composed largely of revolutionaries whose conception of a republic was that the ultimate control should rest in the popularly-elected assembly. Yuan Shih-kai, on the other hand, although he had taken oath to uphold the Provisional Constitution, had no intention of letting the real power slip from his hands.

The first task of the National Assembly was the drafting of a permanent constitution. They went to work with the determination to reduce the president and the executive branch of the government to positions of minor importance. Yuan showed no hesitation in interfering to prevent such a result. The southern provinces revolted against the rule of Yuan and thus gave him the opportunity to enhance his own prestige by defeating them. The revolt and its failure so weakened the revolutionary party in Parliament that Yuan was able to secure his election as permanent President. His own position secure, he proceeded to expel all the members of Parliament who belonged to the Kuo Ming Tang, or revolutionary party.

This practically ended the career of Parliament for the time being. It was not possible to secure a quorum without the expelled members and Yuan took no steps to call a new election. By means of an unconstitutional coup, therefore, Yuan Shih-kai had substituted a dictatorship, with himself in the leading role, for a republican government under the control of an elective assembly. This situation continued until the death of Yuan in 1916. With the succession of Li Yuan-hung to the Presidency, the Parliamentarians, most of whom were in Shanghai, were in a position to reopen the question of their participation in the government. The southern provinces were behind them and their position was greatly strengthened by the adherence of the Yangtsze fleet. On June 29 the Premier, Tuan Chi-jui, accepted the inevitable, and Parliament was reconvened at Peking. The Nanking Constitution was once more recognised as the fundamental law of the Republic of China.

Up to this point there is no dispute between North and South. Both admit the legality of the government under Li and the old Parliament. There is a point which should be noted here, however, for it becomes of great importance later. The term of office of the members of the lower house was three years. According to the calendar, therefore their terms, as well as those of a large number of Senators, had expired. On the suggestion of the foreign advisors, British, American and Japanese, it was determined to treat the whole period of the dictatorship, from 1913 to 1916, as an inter-regnum and thus avoid the necessity for an immediate election.

The reign of law under the Nanking Constitution, thus restored, was not destined to continue for any great length of time. The old struggle between Parliament and the Executive was renewed. There was no Yuan Shih-kai to dominate the situation, but his place in the drama was taken by a number of northern military chiefs who had no liking for anything savoring of democracy. They worked hand in hand with the old Manchu bureaucracy, who mentarians were for the most part from the southern and central provinces. Thus the issue gradually took the form of a struggle between North and South.

The two leading figures among the northern militarists were the Premier, Tuan Chi-jui, and the loyalist general Chang Hsun. The Premier tried to control both militarists and Parliament. Chang Hsun was opposed to any Parliament at all. The issue was forced upon the question of peace or war with Germany. The militarists wanted war because of the excellent opportunity it would give them to handle large sums of money and increase their influence. Parliament was in favor of war with Germany as an abstract proposition. It believed in the principles of democracy and right for which the Allies were fighting. But it was somewhat chary on the practical question for China which was involved, namely, the great power which a state of war would necessarily place in the hands of the northern generals.

Parliament was undoubtedly prepared to accept the risk of the war venture, but the militarists, wishing to make assurance doubly sure, staged a mob demonstration in front of the Parliament building and attempted to rush Parliament into passing the war resolution. The parliamentarians had not spent their lives as revolutionaries for nothing, however, and instead of bringing before the threat of the militarists, they took exactly the opposite course. They stopped action on the war bill and raised a storm of protest which drove most of the members of the cabinet to resign. Then they refused to pass the bill unless a new cabinet was constituted. Tuan Chi-jui stood his ground, however, and demanded the passage of the bill.

At this point the Tuchuns took a hand in the struggle. Expressing their horror at some of the provisions of the draft constitution, a matter which had been forgotten in the war excitement, and fearing that if it were adopted the Parliament would become a despotic body, they demanded the dissolution of Parliament so that a constituent convention might be called to write the constitution. This was of course pure bunkum. Their desire was to get rid of Parliament and go ahead with their schemes without what they deemed constant meddling on its part.

Much to the chagrin of the Tuchuns, however, the President, instead of dissolving Parliament, dismissed the Premier. Li Ching-hsi was nominated as his successor and the nomination was at once confirmed by both houses of Parliament. The Tuchuns decided to oppose the formation of a cabinet by Li, although they intimated that they would not oppose one headed by General Wang, the Chief of the General Staff. The President tried to conciliate the militarists and finally perpetrated the criminal folly of calling Chang Hsun to Peking to act as mediator!

Chang Hsun went first to Tientsin, where the Tuchuns were in consultation. They were already in a state of revolt against the government and Chang, after a few days with them, wired the President to dissolve Parliament! For a time President Li, the idol of the Chinese people, and until that time a staunch supporter of the constitutional government, wavered between right and his fear of the Tuchuns. At last he capitulated and on June 13 issued a mandate dissolving the Parliament.

The subsequent events in the drama at Peking, the restoration of the monarchy by Chang Hsun, his overthrow by Tuan Chi-jui, the calling of the "Tuchuns" Parliament without reference to any law, and the election of Hsu Shih-chang as President, need not detain us here. There is hardly a pretense that the series of manoeuvers by which the present Tuchun-controlled government came into being was constitutional. No stretch of the imagination could make it so. Its sole claim to legality, which the government itself has never made, must be that it was the result of a successful revolution against the constitutional government and therefore succeeded it by right of revolution. That such an argument would not have appealed to the majority of the great Powers engaged in the war with Germany, to sustain the principles of democracy, under normal circumstances, is probable. But under the stress of war and the desire to secure all possible assistance, the Powers recognised the Tuchuns' government.

This would not have been a serious matter for the constitutionalists except for the peculiar conditions in China. The chief sources of income of the central government are administered by foreigners. The income thus obtained is paid over by them to the "Government of China." And the Government of China is the one that happens to be recognised by the governments of which these administrators are nationals. Hence the public income from the southern provinces, a large proportion of the whole, sufficient in amount to have financed the constitutionalist government in a continued struggle against the military barons, was delivered to the puppets of those very barons, who held office in Peking, and used by them to fight the people of the very provinces from which the money came. Thus the action of foreign governments, themselves engaged in a war for the principles of democracy and self-government, served to rivet upon the Chinese people, their nominal ally, a wholly irresponsible autocracy of military despots.

The Constitutionalists, however, refused to give up the fight. The members of the old Parliament reassembled, first at Shanghai and later at Canton. They proclaimed the illegality of the Peking government and insisted that the Chinese people, in whose name they as their chosen representatives spoke, would not submit to a tyrannical government supported solely by foreign recognition. They claimed to be themselves the sole repository of the sovereign powers vested in the National Assembly by virtue of the Nanking Constitution.

While it was quite easy to demonstrate the illegality of the Peking rulers, it was not so easy to sustain the claim of legality of the southern government. Parliament, as constituted under the Constitution, must have a quorum of at least half of its members in order to function. The Canton government, however, failed to muster more than about a third. The remainder had in a minority of cases allied themselves with the Tuchuns and the rest, discouraged at the prospect for constitutional government, had scattered to their homes and given up the struggle.

Here was a dilemma. The government at Peking was not legal. If that at Canton was no better, then China was without a legal government. It was then that the ingenuity of the southern jurisconsults was called upon to solve the problem. The consequence to China if both governments were held to be illegal gave them a basis for their reasoning. They argued that the Chinese people, having once expressed their desire for the organisation of a republican government, by the ratification of the Nanking Constitution and, by virtue of that instrument, having vested the powers of sovereignty in Parliament, that Constitution could not be destroyed by military usurpation nor could the powers vested in Parliament be taken from that body by threat or exercise of military force. From this it followed that what could not be done by the actual exercise of military force could not be accomplished indirectly by the use of military force to prevent the renewal of the Parliamentary membership by legal elections.

This argument was particularly timely in view of another objection which was being urged against the claim to legality of the constitutional government. The term of office of the members of the lower house was fixed at three years. They had taken their seats in the month of April 1913. April 1916, then, marked the expiration of their terms and there had been no election since that time. Therefore, said the supporters of the Peking government, the Parliament was extinct and could not have a shadow of a claim to be the constitutional government.

Not so, said the southerners. What was meant by the law constituting Parliament was that the members should act in three annual sessions, not that they should hold their places for three calendar years. Moreover, the predecessor of the pretended government at Peking itself adopted this interpretation when it summoned the Parliament to meet in June of 1916. Therefore this Parliament is entitled to three years of actual session.

It seems hardly possible to sustain this argument of the southerners if one withdraws from the heat of political controversy. The law reads "three years," not "three sessions," and the cause of constitutional government is not advanced by distorting the plain meaning of words out of all semblance to their real selves to sustain one side of a dispute no matter how sincere its advocates may be. Nor is the Peking government estopped from using the argument that the mandate to Parliament has expired. The members were summoned to Peking in 1916, not on the theory that they were entitled to sit for three sessions, but on the theory that the years of

Using Dried Foods

BY MRS. C. FREDERICK
The Distinguished Authority on Household Efficiency.

You recall that during the war there was considerable talk about "dehydrated foods" and many of us turned our attention to them for the first time. In the middle of Winter, when fresh fruits and foods are often extremely difficult to secure in certain localities, it is worth while to consider these dehydrated foods and when and how to use them.

"Dehydrated" means "water removed." The water or moisture may be removed either by drying in the sun, as is done with raisins, or by drying with steam, which is the plan followed more particularly with peaches and berries and various vegetables. The chief point to recall is that a "dehydrated" food has as much as 75 to 90 percent of its water evaporated, and that before the food can be fit for use again this same amount of water must be returned to it.

That is why the first step to the successful use of evaporated or dried foods is sufficiently long and thorough soaking. This is just where many housekeepers fall in their use of dried foods. They are satisfied with a hasty or partial soaking and then condemn the result and criticise the product itself.

The intelligent housewife will not only soak her prunes, raisins, apples, etc., overnight, but she will give them at least a twenty-four-hour soaking or even longer.

It requires this period of time to replace the water removed from the food by long hours of drying under artificial heat. It is far better to soak twenty-four hours or longer than it is to soak a short period and cook a long while. If the cooking has not been preceded by sufficient soaking the food will still be tough.

Another point to be remembered is the thorough cleansing of the dried food. It is best to let the food stand in tepid water a couple of hours, then pick over carefully, separate the pieces and lay in a second water. The water in which they are soaked for a long time should always be the water in which they are cooked, otherwise too much of the valuable mineral salts will be lost.

If the soaking is sufficiently long and thorough many dried foods will need practically no cooking. In any case, the cooking should be slow, never above the simmering point, otherwise the fibres of the food will be tough. The reason why "boarding house prunes" are so often a failure is because they are cooked carelessly, quickly and at too high a temperature.

String beans are one of the best types of dried vegetable, and a dish of them properly cooked and flavored is far superior to a cheap grade of canned bean. Generally, also, one has to pay at least about twenty cents for a small can of string beans, whereas at fifteen cents a pound for the dried bean one can secure about three times as much for the same price. They combine excellently with ham and other Winter foods.

Soup vegetables are another economy. These come in parrafin bags, carefully sliced and diced and all ready to be soaked and added to soup, gravy or other dishes. Such a package at twenty cents will make two portions at certainly less cost than any bunch of "soup greens" from the Winter market. The housewife, too, is saved the labor and time of cleaning.

Of course, the housewife knows dried prunes, dried apples and dried peaches, but often she does not get the best results from them, either, because she buys inferior brands or because she does not give the necessary pains to their preparation. Never buy a cheap quality of any dried food. A few cents more a pound will insure a much higher grade, larger and cleaner pieces, etc.

Prunes are generally sorted according to the number that are found in a pound, viz., 30-40, 40-50, 50-60, etc. The larger the number to the pound the smaller the prune and vice versa. It pays to buy 30-40 rather than 50-60, because one gets so much more pulp and so much less pit for the money. The same point holds true in buying apricots or peaches, the cheap qualities being coarsely flavored and poorly packed.

A fine grade of dried pear is unequaled if carefully cooked. I have been able to secure a choice brand for about thirty cents a pound. This makes enough for six generous servings, or about nine servings of three slices each. This, of course, is much cheaper than a canned pear, and has more flavor. It can be varied by adding a touch of cinnamon, lemon, cardamon seeds, etc.

I cannot emphasise too much the care necessary in preparing and cooking all dried products. I once had a worker who cooked some dried peaches. When I saw the results on the kitchen table I was quite angry. The pieces were massed together, they were brown, coarse, and there was no liquor. When criticised, the worker replied, "Why, I cooked them two hours."

Just to prove how wrong she was I took another pound of the same brand of peaches and set them to soak in tepid water for a couple of hours. Then I carefully separated the pieces, rubbed off some of the loose skin, and set in another clear water in which they stood for twenty-four hours. I should add that in removing dried fruits or vegetables from one water to another one should always use a skimmer and lift the pieces up instead of pouring the water off. By using the skimmer you leave the dirt behind instead of bringing it along with the food.

I put the peaches, with the same twenty-four-hour water, on the gas "simmerer" for about twenty minutes. Then I lifted them up, piece by piece, and laid in a serving dish. To the juice remaining in the pan I added sugar, a dash of lemon and a grating of cinnamon, and boiled it down until fairly thick. Then I poured this juice over the peaches, using the finest hair sieve to keep back small particles of waste.

Even this worker of mine was forced to admit that the result was almost the same as canned peaches and totally different from the brown acrid mass she had produced.

Raisins are an excellent form of dehydrated fruits. They are very wholesome if soaked overnight, steamed for a few moments and used as a breakfast sauce.

Look up the various brands of dehydrated vegetables and become more familiar with them. It will surprise you to find the variety that is now put on the market and how economical they are in price and in pantry space.

Yuan Shih-kai's dictatorship were to be regarded as an interregnum. In any event, the "three annual sessions" argument will hardly be of use now, as the 1913 Parliament has most certainly had its three full years by this time. If the southerners use the three sessions argument to sustain the legality of the Parliament's acts when it first came to Canton, they thereby go far toward admitting the illegality of its present and future status.

Of far greater interest is the argument based upon the theory that the delegation of power to the Parliament cannot be cancelled or rendered nugatory except by the act of the people of China. If this is admitted, and it is an entirely reasonable proposition in itself, then the question to be decided is, where is the right to exercise this power vested at present? Is it in the vestigial, or "rump," Parliament at Canton?

The southern argument likens the situation to that of a corporation in which the board of directors, through accident or other cause, has lost the majority of its members. Unable to assemble a quorum, it no longer exists as a board of directors. Its surviving members cannot act as a board. Such a situation does not result, however, in the dissolution of the corporation and subject its property and rights to the will of the first freebooter who comes along and seizes them. On the contrary the remaining directors, minority though they be, are charged as trustees with the care and management of the property and rights of the corporation until its stockholders can be assembled to reconstitute a regular administration.

So it is with China, the argument continues. Parliament was vested with the right to exercise the powers of sovereignty. It was the sole possessor of this right and no authority could take it from Parliament except the Chinese people. In the ordinary course of events, if military force had not intervened to prevent, the membership of Parliament would have been reconstituted by popular election. Thus new men might have exercised the power delegated to the Parliament. The fact that such an election was prevented cannot alter the original grant to Parliament. Nor does the majority of the original members diminish the extent of the grant. Failing a quorum, the minority cannot function as a Parliament but they can and must continue as trustees to exercise the powers of sovereignty until such time as the Chinese people are again free to choose a regular Parliament. This cannot be as long as the majority of the Provinces remain in the control of military usurpers. Therefore the vestigial Parliament at Canton must remain the depository of the sovereign powers of the Chinese people until the Peking Government abdicates and a new Parliament is chosen according to the Constitution.

In itself the argument is a bit tenuous. It would not take a very strong case on the other side to overthrow it. But legal cases are decided not on the absolute right of either party, but on the basis of the relative merits of their respective contentions. Tenuous as the southern argument may be, therefore, it must hold good unless some stronger theory is urged against it. In the absence of any possible claim to legality on the part of the Peking government, it would seem that Canton is justified in claiming to be the legal government of China. Just how valuable that will be in establishing it as the actual government of China remains to be seen.

Nanking College Students Act To Redeem Railway

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, Feb. 15.—A railway redemption movement has recently been initiated by the students in the colleges, in the middle school, Chinese faculty, and servants in the University. Pamphlets on the Kiaochou-Tsinan Railway are being distributed to arouse the public to the necessity and importance of the movement.

Mr. Harry Clemons, university librarian, Mrs. Clemons, and their family, will sail to America for a six-months furlough on the Golden State. Mr. Clemons arrived in China in April, 1913. Until 1920, he was head of the department of English in the University and for six months in 1918-19 was in Siberia for the American Library Association.

An American-Chinese walking and talking club has been started. It includes the students in the colleges and the men in the Language School. Rev. Paul D. Twinem is the director.

The University of Nanking Magazine that stopped publication two years ago is now to be published again. Hereafter the magazine will be directed by a board which consists of the colleges, the middle school, the language school, the alumni, the faculty, and the hospital. Messrs. Li Kwei-chen, '23 and Wang I-ting, '23, are editors and Chow Yung-nien, '24, business manager. The first issue is expected in June.

"The GREATEST QUESTION"

A drama of the way of destiny with "just folks"—plain human beings—fighting the battles of life in their own way. Picturing their virtues and frailties so graphically that you will laugh and cry with them—hate and love with them—as your emotions react to Griffith's masterly interpretation of humanity's greatest question.

And as you see the characters struggling on—sometimes fighting the current of life, sometimes mounting the crest of a wave of success, sometimes helplessly drifting or hurled against a catastrophe that wrecks a life—you'll marvel with Griffith at the greatest question in life.

Poignant Drama—Hilarious Comedy—Stern Tragedy-Love-Life!

Admission Prices: $1.50, $1.00 and 60 cts.
